NUNS GUIDE 300 CHILDREN TO SAFETY IN EXPLOSION

Lawrence, Nov. 10.—In charge of nuns and without confusion, three hundred children marched from the St. Laurence parochial school today to safety when an oil burner in the basement exploded. The building was filled with smoke and the explosion shook the building. No one was injured and no fire of any consequence followed.

MAN DYING, BURNED BY ELECTRIC CABLE

William H. Dunbar, 49, a painter of 23 Winter place, Malden, was probably fatally burned today in contact with a high votage cabble while at work in the Melrose station of the Malden Electric Co. He is said to be dying in the Melrose Hospital.

BRAZIL FIRST TARGET OF HOOVER'S THREAT

Washington, Nov. 10 (I.N.S.).—Carrying out the threat voiced by Secretary Hoover that the American government would take retaliatory action against foreign countries that "hold up" American consumers through monopolies on raw products, the State Department today disapproved a proposed bankers' loan to Brazil. That country has almost a monopoly on coffee consumed in the United States.

SCHOOLBOY, HIT BY AUTO, NEAR DEATH

Lawrence, Nov. 10.—Philip Bistany, aged nine, is on the danger list at the General Hospital, his skull having been fractured when he was knocked down by an automobile while hurrying to school today. Edward Kelley was operating the machine, but is held blameless for the accident.

New York, Nov. 10 (I.N.S.).—The flood gates of speculative selling were opened in the last hour of the stock market today and prices of the inflated motor and industrial stock leaders dropped in confusion from 5 to 25 points.

United States Steel, at 128¼, was down 11 points. General Motors declined 11 points near the close and sold at 124, down 15 points from the high of the recent move. Chrysler and du Pont lost more than 20 points today; Hudson was down 17 points at 108; Mack 14 points at 137; Cast Iron Pipe down 16 at 204.

New York, Nov. 10. (A.P.).—Stock prices collapsed with startling suddenness today. The selling, which embraced practically all groups of stocks, was undoubtedly inspired by speculative fears that the raising of the Boston Federal Reserve rediscount rate yesterday would be followed by similar action by the New York Federal Reserve institution, which would have a tendency to restrict credit facilities and thereby restrain speculative operations for the advance in the stock market.

In one hour a score or more of recent speculative favorites were carried down 5 to nearly 20 points, the offerings of professional speculators for the decline being augmented by the execution of hundreds of "stop

VOTE TO CUT TAXES ON ALCOHOL, CIGARS, AUTOS

Washington, Nov. 10 (A.P.).—Reduction of the automobile taxes and repeal of many of the special excise levies was voted today by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Under a provision approved by the committee, which is writing a new tax bill, passenger cars would be taxed 3 per cent., instead of 5 per cent. and the levy on automobile trucks, wagons, tires and accessories would be wiped out.

The tax on all grades of cigars was reduced and the levy on alcohol was cut in half.

Other taxes which the committee would repeal are those on jewelry, camera lenses, photograph films and plates, firearms and ammunition, smokers' articles, coin operating machines, works of art and mah jong sets.

No change was made in the taxes on admissions and dues, although the committee voted to exempt

PEACE DAY MARCHERS ARE SCORED BY WIFE OF 26TH DIVISION HEAD

New condemnation of the Armistice Day paraders came today, with Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards, wife of General Edwards, in the lead—but in the midst of the barrage the Rev. George L. Paine, general chairman, stood up and denied personal Communistic affiliation.

The minister, who is active sponsor for the demonstration, characterized by war veterans and sympathizers as a display of radical, pacifist force, declared the marshalless parade will have a new marshal named before tonight.

Also did the minister deny that any organization has pulled out of the line of march or that parade plans have been changed because of the storm of denunciation.

No city official will review the marchers when they pass City Hall tomorrow and it came out today that Standish Wilcox, social secretary to Mayor Curley, had caused to be rescinded, an order placed for erection of a reviewing stand.

SCORES PACIFISTS IN LINE.

Mrs. Edwards, one of the strongest figures in veteran and auxiliary organizations, pointed a finger of suspicion at the parade today and declared that neither she nor her Legion Auxiliary associates will take part.

"Many of the participants in the parade do not seem to me to be quite on the level," said Mrs. Edwards, through Colonel John W. Hyatt, at her home, "Dunroving," in Westwood.

"The auxiliary with which I am associated will not take any part in the parade.

"It is hard to figure just where the money is coming from to finance the parade. The funds for advertising and so forth seem to me to be of mysterious origin."

Mrs. Edwards also said that no disabled veterans would be in line.

TROLLEY CARS CRASH IN MEDFORD, 5 HURT

Five persons were injured, one seriously, today when two trolley cars crashed in a rear-end collision near Fulton street, Medford. William Craig of Everett street, Medford, motorman on the second car, is at Lawrence Memorial Hospital suffering from a badly cut face, a broken right rib and probable internal injuries. The vestibules of both cars were demolished.

The motorman on the first car, a Feilway West, was on the roof of his car attempting to fix a broken trolley when the crash came. He is Alexander Harmon of No. 61 James street, Malden. Harmon was

MITCHELL WITNESS SAYS COAST IN PERIL

Washington, Nov. 10 (A.P.)—The government's air policies, both at home and in far-off American possessions, were assailed today in defense testimony before the Mitchell courtmartial.

Captain Robert Oldys of the Air Service, called to support Colonel Mitchell's charge of near treasonable disregard of national interests in aviation, declared he had in his possession a letter written by the American Minister to Guatemala in 1923, warning of a scheme by "allen interests to establish a foothold in Central America, near the Panama Canal."

The Minister, the witness said, unsuccessfully urged the Washing-

ARMED POSSE TRACKS OUTLAW IN FOREST

Ashland, N. H., Nov. 10.—Headed by sheriffs and deputies—some with revolvers swinging from belts and others with rifles—a newly organized posse today renewed the search for Frank, alias "Dell," Fellows, Tennessee thug and jailbreaker, who shot down and probably fatally wounded Constable George E. Dow in the main street of this town late yesterday.

Sheriff A. E. Strain of Littleton, accompanied by L. A. Titus, one of his deputies, and Clark B. Frost, Grafton county attorney, arrived on this ordinarily peaceful village today to find it an armed camp.

Shoot to kill orders have been issued to all members of the posses, despite the fact that Fellows is wanted alive. Extraordinary precautions are being made by the officials to guard the prisoner in case he is alive when taken.

Constable Dow is said to be dying and feeling is running high. Many threats against Fellows have been uttered by little knots of armed men who remained in town during the night to guard the women and children.

Constable Dow was on Main street when Fellows was pointed out to him. When he attempted to make an arrest, Fellows opened fire with an automatic pistol. Dow fell after a bullet had shattered his right wrist and plowed through his body.

Five shots were fired at Fellows by a hunter and it is believed that one took effect.

CANCER VICTIM BEGS CHANCE TO DIE TO END HIS MISERY AND PAIN

Denver, Col., Nov. 10.—An amazing development in the wake of the Blazer trial in progress at Littleton was revealed here today when it was learned that Barney Haughey, 66, a Denver attorney single tax advocate and active in political circles, had asked the congregation of the church of which he is a member to take a vote on whether he should be put to death. His case—a cancer—is hopeless.

The church board of directors officially voted in favor of a "warm-blooded execution," providing Haughey is found to be incurable and desirous of dying, and a way can be found to take such action legally.

The directors acted at the request of Haughey, who is in a hospital while physicians battle for his life. Haughey is a member of the Liberal church, which its bishop, Frank H. Ries, says has members in every State.

Bishop Rice said the directors voted "as an official act of the church" favoring "the warm-blooded killing, based on our love and affection for Barney Haughey."

Haughey declared he made the request because of the deep interest he had taken in the trial of Dr. Harold P. Blazer for the slaying of his helpless daughter.

"I have been in this hospital for a month," Haughey declared. "And since the Blazer trial started I have given deep thought to the problem of the physically and mentally unfit.

"If my case is hopeless, if there is nothing in the future for me but adject misery and pain, it seems to me that immediate death would be the best solution. If there is no hope I do not see why I should not be permitted to die."

SAYS MRS. HENNESSEY CHEERED 'OTHER MAN'

"Go get him 'Brownie,'" was the cheering word offered her husband's opponent in a fist fight by Mrs. Margaret G. Hennessey, according to Miss Lee, testifying in the divorce suit fo James J. Hennessey against his wife, both of Wakefield, in Middlesex Probate Court today. The case is being heard before Judge Arthur E. Beane.

"Brownie" evidently didn't "get" Hennessey for Lee said the latter heard "Brownie" up the street after a brief scuffle. The fight took place before Mrs. Hennessey's sister's home in Wakefield, according to Lee.

"In September, 1924," declared Lee, "Hennessey and myself came upon an auto which contained Mrs. Hennessey and a man. Hennessey asked the man if he knew the woman in his machine and he replied, 'Say I picked her up at the carnival.' Hennessey made a pass at him, which was returned, and Mrs. Hennessey shouted, 'Go get him, Brownie.' When I interfered the man ran up the street with Hennessey after him."

MITCHELL WITNESS SAYS PACIFIC WARNINGS WERE IGNORED

DEFENCES IN CRITICAL CONDITION

ten government to establish an air mail service to Central America. Actual presentation of the letter in evidence was delayed temporarily, at least, by objections from the prosecution.

Captain Oldys also quoted at length from the aviation report, presented in 1923 by the Lassiter board of Army officers, containing recommendations for air defence of the Philippines and Hawaii, which the witness said had been approved by the Secretary of War, but never carried into effect. This report, he said, described the situation in the Air Service as "unfortunate and critical."

So many objections were interposed by the prosecution that Colonel Blanton Winship, law member of the court, reminded Colonel Sherman Moreland, the prosecutor, of his previous statement that he would not object to testimony intended to prove the truth of Colonel Mitchell's charges if it was offered in extenuation or mitigation.

Colonel Moreland said he was continue to object on the ground that the evidence being offered was "incompetent, irrelevant and not obtained from the best source."

PLANS IGNORED.

Captain Oldys then told the court that while he was stationed in Hawaii there were so many forced landings and airplane smashes that there was a threat to hold pilots financially responsible for the loss of their craft.

When the captain said there were no tactical air units on the Pacific coast, Major-General Howze, president of the court, asked:

"Has Rockwell Field been abandoned?"

"There is a depot there."

"Any flying personnel?"

"Only a dozen officers. They test machines turned out of the depot."

The witness said he had recommended that aviators be transferred to the Pacific Coast, but the general staff did not approve the recommendation.

General Howze asked him if he thought the general staff ought to be guided by his recommendations.

"As the general staff is at present constituted, I do, sir," Captain Oldys replied.

Then Brigadier-General Ewing E. Booth asked Captain Oldys how he would organize the general staff.

"The same as Colonel Mitchell," the captain said.

Major H. H. Arnold, in charge of the information division of the Air Service, testified that there were thirty-eight Air Service deaths in 1924 and forty-five thus far in 1925. The official records showed the causes to be fire, lack of weather information, collapse of the craft in the air, and motor failures.

CONTRADICTS CHIEFS.

In an effort to prove Colonel Mitchell's charge that high army and navy officers had given Congress misleading information, defence counsel directed Major Arnold's attention to statements made by Rear Admirals Hilary Jones and Straus and Brigadier-General Drum to House committees.

The major testified that the United States Air Service did not compare favorably with those of other major powers, as General Drum had reported to a House investigating committee.

Under cross-examination by Colonel Moreland, Major Arnold said he did not take geographical differences into consideration in estimating comparative air strength.

"How about the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans?" asked Colonel Moreland.

"They have been annihilated."

"Have the oceans been annihilated?"

"Practically. Air ships have flown across both oceans."

General Howze developed by questioning the witness that 27 per cent. of all accidents in the Army air service were due to material defects and 57 per cent. to errors of judgment on the part of the fliers.

Laughlin, who, with Joseph H. Bennett, Edward J. Heimlein, John D. Devereaux and Peter V. King, make up the defendants.

McLaughlin, Heimlein, Devereaux and King were originally indicted for the murder of James H. Ferneau, watchman at the Waltham carbarn of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company. Bennett was indicted as an accessory before and after the fact of the murder, and before and after the fact of the robbery while armed of Cashier William J. Mains of $1,471.

At the opening of the trial District Attorney Reading announced he proposed to pro.pose the murder indictment against King. Today the Middlesex grand jury handed down an indictment as accessory before and after the fact of robbery against King. It is understood the murder indictment will be ad-journed when the jury is empanelled.

The fifth juror selected was Irving H. Merrill of Malden, who gave his business as a colorer of motion picture films.

Another prominent man in the venire was James O'Sullivan of Lowell, one of the founders of the O'Sullivan Rubber Heel Company, who was excused by Judge Frederick Fosdick because of his advanced age. He is 78.

All the defendants, with the exception of King, exercised their right to challenge at today's session.

As on the opening day, the venire took up all the room in the court, so that spectators were again excluded. The usual throng was on hand in the corridors.

The following occupational taxes, which apply on proprietors were repealed: Brokers, including pawn brokers, ship and customs house brokers; billiard rooms and bowling alleys, shooting galleries, cabled accidents, autos for hire, tobacco manufacturers and yachts and motor boats.

It was also agreed to reduce from $3 to $1 the annual tax on physicians who dispense narcotics and to cut from 30 cents to 2½ cents the tax on each deed or conveyance amounting to $500.

The total revenue the government would lose as a result of the changes would be slightly more than $160,000,000 annually, Chairman Green said.

In reducing the alcohol tax the committee would cut the rate on $2.20 a proof gallon to $1.65 a gallon.

The cuts on cigars follow:

Small sizes from $1.50 to 75 cents a thousand; Class A from $4 to $2.50; Class B from $8 to $4.50, Class C from $9 to $5, Class D from $12 to $10.50, Class E from $15 to $13.50.

New Cosmic Ray
No Perfect Press
Even the Bath Tub
Cotton and Railroads

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1925, by Star Company

AT A MEETING of the National Academy of Sciences at Madison, Wis., last night, Dr. Millikan, California scientist, was expected to announce the discovery of a new cosmic ray.

Dr. Millikan was first to measure an electron, thus winning the Nobel prize. He says the earth is bombarded by these "new" cosmic rays day and night.

NO MAN CAN estimate the importance of the new ray, which, as George Young, of Los Angeles, suggests, should be called the "Millikan Ray."

Newton, announcing his law of gravitation, dealing with cosmic movements throughout space, was puzzled to find the cause of the first impulse.

THE EARTH ROLLS around the sun, but how did it START rolling? Newton accepted the hypothesis that it received its initial impulse "from the hand of God." We do not now conceive a Divinity with material hands big enough for such a task. The Millikan rays, with their forceful bombardment, might supply the rotation, like a little boy keeping his hoop rolling by striking it with a stick. You will hear more about these rays that may supply a "counter gravitation" force necessary, as the late Albert Brisbane said, more than half a century ago, to explain the working of cosmic machinery.

IF GRAVITATION had worked through eternity to balance it, without some power of counter gravitation, all the matter of the universe would long since have been gathered into one solid lump. The theory of distributive explosions and inter-stellar collisions would only satisfy the mind of a child.

SUITOR DIDN'T KNOW BLACK FROM WHITE

Alice Jones Rhinelander's expression was thoughtful as some of her 426 love letters were read by counsel for Kip Rhinelander, young millionaire, who is sorry he wed and is trying to break the bonds that tie him to the daughter of a man who said he was "black." "So infatuated that he did not know black from white," is the description given by his counsel of Rhinelander.

RICH MATE 'KNEW OF SECRET'

Counsel Warns Young Rhinelander Against "Mud-Throwing" in Annulment Suit

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 10 (A.P.)—Counsel for Mrs. Alice Jones Rhinelander, now being sued for annulment of her marriage to Leonard Kip Rhinelander on the ground of fraudulent representation of her race, today admitted in open court that their client had some colored blood.

The admission was made by Lee Parsons Davis, chief of defence counsel, at the opening of his outline of what the defense expects to prove.

He said:

"The defense counsel hereby withdraws the previous denial as to the blood of this defendant and for the purpose of this action and to shorten the trial, admits the defendant has some colored blood."

Davis then asked Supreme Court Justice Morschauser to instruct the jury to disregard that portion of the outline of the plaintiff's case made by Isaac N. Mills, which referred to the mental development of young Rhinelander.

He also objected to the portion of Mr. Mills' outline which made reflections on the "good name" of the defendant. Justice Morschauser refused to instruct the jury on these points holding that they were relevant.

FATHER FORCING SUIT.

Mr. Davis contended that it was young Rhinelander's father, Philip Rhinelander who was behind the annulment suit.

"The Rhinelander millions," he said, "not Leonard's, but Philip's, are back of this move to crush a conceitedly humble family to save what they consider to be an ancient name, trailing back to the Huguenots of New Rochelle.

"It was not enough that they should enter the humble home and take this girl, but because father gets cross about it he has to drag her in the mud."

Mrs. Rhinelander's counsel said young Rhinelander forced his attentions for months on Alice Jones, had accepted night after night the hospitality of her family and had met many of her relatives. When the question of marriage arose, Mr. Davis quoted him as saying: "Well have to keep this secret."

Alice Jones frequently had expressed doubt as to the advisability of the marriage, Davis asserted. Davis said that in meeting Alice's relatives he must have seen traces of negro blood in them.

COUNSEL WARNS "KIP."

"But yet they say," he continued, "that he had no suspicion that there was colored blood around."

Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Alice's parents, met in England when he was a woman and she a cook, Davis continued. Mr. Jones, classed as a mulatto, was accepted in white circles because of a different attitude toward race questions in that country.

Their home in New Rochelle he described as "on an alley but as neat and clean as any mansion on Fifth avenue." Alice worked as a maid to support herself and her family.

Mr. Davis intimated that he might produce letters written by young Rhinelander to his future wife, if the plaintiff continued to introduce her letters to him.

"If they wish to start throwing mud," he told the jury, "I'll wreck this boy by his own letters."

Although the defence had conceded that Mrs. Rhinelander was of colored blood, Rhinelander's attorneys held it was legally necessary to introduce proof of this and Mr. Mills introduced family birth records, marriage certificates and insurance applications. In all of these various members of the Jones family were described as black or mulatto.

MILKMAN DYING IN CRASH

Driver of Auto Held After a Night of Revels With Woman, Say Police

Following what the police claim had been a night of revelry, Frank P. Gordon, 26, of No. 144 Worcester street, was arrested today after an automobile he was driving caused possible fatal injuries to Joseph F. Mills of No. 738 Huntington avenue.

Mills, driver of a milk wagon that was rammed into kindling wood by the machine driven by Gordon, was taken to the City Hospital suffering from a fractured skull and lacerations to the head.

Gordon was arrested charged with leaving the scene of an accident without making known his identity, and it was said other charges would be preferred against him in court.

According to the police Gordon, night foreman of the Academy Garage, Huntington avenue, entertained a woman there.

Early today, the police say, he appropriated the automobile of Robert Graham of Graham & Sons, No. 110 Ward street, and drove from the garage into Huntington avenue. He had proceeded only a short distance when the crash with the milk wagon occurred.

Freshie Wants a Masked Ball at Harvard

Harvard freshmen are offering their first impressions of the college, and one especially has tickled the professors. It reads:

"One of my first impressions of Harvard was that it is very representative of this country: an aristocracy of wealth on top, good blue blood and good red blood in the middle, and the dregs on the bottom."

Another wrote:

"What is needed in welcoming the freshmen is a gathering that is informal and gay, and, above all, the professors must be incognito. A masque ball is all that I can think of that fulfills the requirements."

WEATHER FAIR ALL OVER U. S.

Ideal Fall weather covered the entire United States today with the exception of slight rains along the Pacific coast. Indications are Boston will enjoy fair weather until the week-end at least. Fair tonight and Wednesday, with slowly rising temperature Wednesday, is the forecast for all New England.

The extreme cold spell that gripped White River, Ont., vanished and a temperature of 12 above was reported there today.

At 10 o'clock the official weather bureau thermometer stood at 34 degrees, and 32 at midnight was the lowest mark reached for the last twenty-four hours. Greenville, Me., coldest in New England, reported 24, while Concord, N. H., was next with 26.

KISSES WIFE IN AUTO; IT'S AGAINST THE LAW

Milwaukee, Nov. 10.—Allen Schultz and wife, Dorothy, were fined $5 and costs for kissing in a parked automobile. Schultz maintained a man could kiss his wife when he pleased, but the patrolman and judge had different views.

LOW GRADE SOFT COAL IN MARKET

Hultman Warns Householders to Be on Guard Against Inferior Quality

High volatile soft coal, unfit for the average house furnace, is being foisted on consumers by some conscienceless coal dealers in Massachusetts, Fuel Administrator Eugene C. Hultman charged today.

People who purchase the stuff are in for a good "stinging," Hultman declared.

In the trade the product is known as "splint" coal.

"It looks more like anthracite than the low-volatile bituminous and for that reason many people have fallen for it," declared the administrator.

"A practical means of safeguarding oneself in the purchase of bituminous coal," he added, "is to insist that the dealer specify on the bill the exact kind of coal he is dumping into the cellar."

DEATH MYSTERY MAY REVEAL VICE GANG

Startling revelations of the inner workings of a coterie of the underworld are expected to be the next developments in the unravelling of the mystery that surrounds the slaying of Vito Favuzza, piano player, whose body, with skull crushed, was found in a dump of shrubbery in Winchester on Satuday.

The police have abandoned the theory of a jealous husband and are now working along lines that promise a sensation when revealed.

Joseph Ferrari, of the State police, who is working on the case, is confining his efforts to the North End again today and expects developments shortly.

SEARCH NARROWS.

Although Ferrari maintained silence today as to his plans, it was learned that the police search has now narrowed down to a night-life crowd and two women are still being sought.

In the meantime, blacksmith and auto repair shops are being searched in an effort to find where and by covered that will aid in solving the heavy auto axle with which the victim was beaten was cut. It shows where it had been heated and then cut, and the police reason that this could only be done under excessive heat and in some shop where the necessary tools were handy.

FUNERAL TODAY.

The funeral of Favuzza was held today at the Jannini undertaking rooms on North street. His widow attended the service, her swollen eyes showing the ceaseless grief that has been hers.

Her home in East Boston is modestly furnished and resounds to the clamor of her two golden-haired children at play, unaware of the tragedy.

"Have happy home, poor but clean," said the mother in imperfect English. "Vito leave me last Friday morning. He kissed me, yes. He tell me I should not wait for him, he too busy tonight. Always I trust him. He love me so."

Mrs. Favuzza's mother comforted her daughter. She said that Antioneita would not have to go back to sewing buttons and coats. With her she would have a home and be happy.

CITY OPENS DRIVE FOR $10,364,771 IN TAXES

City Collector William M. McMorrow today began a drive to collect $10,364,771.64 outstanding real and personal taxes that remain unpaid on this year's warrant.

Demand bills were placed in the mails today with fourteen-day limit for payment. Non-payment means the sale of properties involved.

The tax warrant amounted to $50,211,841.68.

Collector McMorrow expects to equal his record of the past three years for nearly 100 per cent collections.

DUCHESS, SKETCHING HUB, TELLS WHY "MIRACLE DAUGHTER" IS HER FAVORITE MODEL

Here are some of the examples of the art of the Duchess of Rutland, drawn for the Boston Evening American in her suite at the Lenox. Her daughter, the Lady Diana Manners of the "Miracle Players" is her favorite model, she declared. From left to right the pictures show: A sketch of Schuyler Ladd as the knight in "The Miracle," a photographic pose of Lady Diana; a sketch made by the duchess of her daughter on the day of her wedding to Lieut. Duff-Cooper; another photograph of Lady Diana, and last, a sketch of her in her "Miracle" role, done by her mother's titled hands. Below, a photo by International News Reel of the duchess.

Noted Visitor Likes to Draw the Young: Envies Americans: Finds U. S. Girls Like British

Heads for business! That's America's redeeming feature and that is why the Dowager Duchess of Rutland is so fond of us!

"You know we English have no heads for business," she lamented in an interview in her suite at the Hotel Lenox. "We have not the proper methods for turning effort into cash."

An English noblewoman, mother and grandmother of lords and ladies, worked on a sketch in her lap as she reminisced in snatches and planned for the future of herself and her actress daughter, Lady Diana Manners.

WILL SELL ART.

Her Grace, the ever-youthful Duchess, was quiet happy in the knowledge that "maybe" the American public would purchase some of the sketches she has made under the name of "Violet Rutland."

"This is a picture of Boston from my window," she explained. "Maybe I shall sell it too; what? I am happy to make money on my sketches."

In a bedroom cluttered with sketches and photographs, all samples of the Duchess' effort with the pencil, she finds inspiration and draws from those things about her. But best of all, she adores the subject of her daughter, Diana, and most of her drawings are pencil reproductions of the varied expressions of beauty for which the much-heralded English Lady Diana is famous.

A well stocked supply of sharpened pencils with many pads of paper are much in evidence and when the Duchess isn't partaking of food or rest she is at her drawing.

DAUGHTER BEST MODEL.

The Duchess permits none of her men and great ladies to be old. Her Lady Diana has the effervescent exuberance of youth; her Schuyler Ladd has the thoughtful handsomeness of a man of the world but the determined straightness of budding manhood.

The sketch of Lady Diana on her wedding day reveals the petted daughter of the Duchess as a sweet, young girl, coy and demure with innocence as white as her veil.

"I love to draw my daughter," she went on. "She makes such a beautiful subject and is so patient. For hours she sits and allows me to weary her with my sketch.

Rapid impressions and notes of players in 'The Miracle' show that the spiritual beauty with which the Duchess endows her subjects extends beyond the limited conception of country and castle.

Maybe the reason why Her Grace imbues her characters with the vigor of youth is largely due to her great liking for the young.

"I love young people, especially young girls. I have three daughters and a son, all married. I haven't met many American girls but those I have seen are quite the same as our own girls and wear just as little. Girls grow up by themselves now a great deal more than when Diana was a girl."

1741 GOVERNOR PORTRAIT HERE

On behalf of the State, Governor Fuller today accepted a portrait of William Shirley, Governor of Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1741. The portrait is the gift of Representative Henry L. Shattuck of Boston and will hang with those of other colonial Governors in the State House.

According to the Governor, Shattuck learned of the whereabouts of the painting through former Speaker B. Loring Young.

"Some thought was given toward raising the money by subscription or possibly legislation," said Governor Fuller. "Representative Shattuck, going to London, consulted the English-Speaking Union in Boston and found that P. A. W. Laye of London owned the portrait.

"He went to London, saw it, wished that the State might have it, and so he bought it and paid for it—a much shorter and a much less expensive way for the State than would have been the case if it had been undertaken in the usual way."

SHAWSHEEN TO LOSE ONLY SIX OFFICE UNITS

Others Will Remain at Model Village; Tenements to Remain Undisturbed

Officials of the American Woolen Company today branded as false reports that Shawsheen Village, pet project of William M. Wood, former head of the organization, was to be abandoned.

In a statement issued from three sources they explained that the only changes contemplated in the model community were the removal of six executive departments to Boston.

These departments will be installed in the First National Bank Building, but all the others will remain at Shawsheen Village, and residents of the model community will continue to have their homes there.

Original reports had it that all the executive offices of the American Woolen Company were to be transported to Boston, and the $21,000,000 industrial utopia was to be scrapped.

The first denial and explanation was contained in a statement given out by Attorney Wheaton Kittredge at his office, No. 148 State street.

A short time later a similar statement was issued from the office of President Andrew G. Pierce, Jr., followed by another from Third Assistant Treasurer Hardy.

Attorney Whittredge's statement said:

"The directors of the American Woolen Company at a meeting held recently, have decided to move the offices of certain departments from Andover to Boston. The offices which will thus be moved will include the president and vice-presidents, the treasurer and the wool purchasing and traffic departments.

"The engineering, chemical laboratory, electrical, real estate and perhaps a few other departments will remain in Andover, as also the executive offices of several of the subsidiary corporations.

"It is expected that the new quarters, which will be in the First National Bank Building, will be ready for occupancy shortly after the beginning of the year.

"The directors, after a very careful study of the entire situation, have come to the conclusion that a segregation of the departments as above outlined will result in a more economical and efficient administration of the affairs of the company."

Amplifying the official statement, Attorney Kittredge said:

"A wrong construction has been put upon the plan to centralize the executive offices of the American Woolen Company in Boston. Shawsheen is not to be abandoned. Shawsheen is not to be scrapped.

"The mills are to stay right there. People who work in the mills are going to con[illegible]ue to live in Shawsheen. Some of the office workers whose desks will be removed to Boston will continue to live in Shawsheen.

"They have their homes there. They will commute to Boston, that is all. Shawsheen is permanent. Only a few of the offices are to be moved to Boston, anyway. Many of the important offices as well keep right in Shawsheen. Shawsheen is going to stay right on the industrial map."

LOWELL PROBE REOPENS IN CAMBRIDGE COURT

The Grand Jury investigation of "graft" charges and alleged laxity in certain departments of the Lowell city government continued today at East Cambridge after adjournment at Lowell Monday. Assistant District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell was in charge of the investigation.

A truck-load of city records arrived at the courthouse from Lowell, these records having been requested by District Attorney Pelletier. The following witnesses were at the courthouse today and were expected to give their testimony:

Edward J. Connolly, city purchasing agent; J. J. Sweeney, who has done business with the Chelmsford State Hospital, one of the city institutions under investigation; George Mathews, a citizen of Lowell; J. E. Moynihan, superintendent of buildings; Frank O'Neil, Lowell contractor; George Budd, Jr., a bridge engineer employed by the city, and William H. Handley, Jr., a carpenter and jobber.

WILL REMOVE RUM PATROL STATION TO EAST BOSTON

Captain P. H. Uberoth, commander of the Eastern Coast Guard District, announced today arrangements have been made to move the headquarters of the rum patrol fleet from the floating station in Dorchester Bay to Lockwoods Basin, East Boston, within a month. The change was decided upon following many protests from yachtsmen and bathers against the fleet of seventeen chasers using the floating station as headquarters. It was complained that nothing was done to protect yachts that frequently dragged anchor or the saving of lives in an emergency.

Woman Hurt in Crash

Mrs. Marion Cifuni of No. 1 Short street, East Boston, was cut by flying glass when the auto driven by her husband Charles was in collision with a truck operated by Frederick J. Copperrath of Roxbury at Chelsea and Adams streets, Charlestown.

2-GUN RIVALS BOTH DIE IN DESERT DUEL

Final Drama of Last Frontier Staged as Pair "Fight It Out" at Water Hole

San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 10 (A.P.) Matt Burts and Bill Roberts, two of the few remaining two-gun men of the weird desert vastness that centres at government holes, have met and "shot it out." Both died with their "boots on" in this last stand of the old type gunmen in Southern California.

The scene was 220 miles northeast of San Bernardino in the wild region near where Nevada, Arizona and California have a common boundary line at the Colorado River.

That it was a duel, possibly over a water pool, which ended in the double tragedy, was reported by Deputy Sheriff Jack Brown in a telegram to Sheriff W. A. Shay.

Roberts recently was employed as foreman of the Rock Springs Cattle Company because "he was a man who wouldn't run," the company advised the sheriff. For many years foremen of the big cattle range that reaches for thirty miles among the bleak hills of California's last frontier had been "run out" by gunmen.

A successful foreman had to face sniping and general gunplay. Recently Roberts returned to the ranch house and found thirteen bullet holes drilled through the building. It happened many other times to Roberts' predecessors.

Apparently Burts and Roberts later met at Roberts' house, said the sheriff, and fought it out.

CHURCH VOTES FOR EXECUTION

Hazel, thirty-four-year-old "child woman," was ended today.

Dr. Howell T. Pershing, Denver alienist, was the last defense witness. He testified that in his opinion Dr. Blazer was insane on the day he was found in the Blazer home in a stupor, lying beside the lifeless body of his daughter Hazel.

"The letters Blazer wrote, directing disposition of his and his daughter's bodies alone are enough to indicate to me that he was suffering from severe mental disorder," declared Dr. Pershing, who is a cousin of General John J. Pershing.

The doctor's testimony brought bitter words between counsel and objections by Prosecuting Attorney Stone to the ruling of Judge Johnson on the admissibility of answers to hypothetical questions in regard to Blazer's sanity.

In his ruling, Judge Johnson briefly reviewed the testimony introduced.

"I object to your reviewing the testimony," Stone said.

"I don't care what you object to —go ahead, Mr. Witness," the judge replied.

When Stone questioned Dr. Pershing on cross-examination regarding the possibilities of recovery by the defendant from the State of mental disorder that prevailed when the girl was slain, the alienist launched into a technical discussion of the "delicate border line" where it was "impossible to distinguish normality from abnormality without the most intensive study and examination."

Dr. Pershing remained unshaken in his declaration that Blazer was "not responsible for his acts" during the period immediately preceding and following the slaying of the imbecile girl on February 24.

225 STAR BOSTON TERRIERS IN MECHANICS HALL SHOW

Two hundred and twenty-five dogs, best of Boston Terriedom, are on exhibition at the 36th annual specialty show of the Boston Terrier Club of America today and tomorrow at Mechanics Building. Dogs from all parts of the country are entered in greater number and quality than ever before, New York having sent eighteen entries. The show will wind up tomorrow night with the Parade of the Champions.

The first class judged, junior puppy dogs over six and not exceeding nine months, was won by George C. Thomas with Little Tommy Thomas; Mrs. Alice Simpson, second, with Jack De Go, 3rd; Edward T. Joyce, third, with Zat So; Mrs. H. E. Rawlings, fourth, with Buzzy Highball, and William Mutch, fifth, with Sunny Tom.

2 CLUBS LOSE LICENSES FOR BREAKING RUM LAW

Because of violation of the liquor law, Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook today revoked the charters of the Coolidge Republican Club, Inc., Dartmouth street, and the International Sporting Club, Inc., 9 Merchants Row.

According to the secretary, George Williams was arrested in the rooms of the first named club on September 16 and later pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $50 for keeping and exposing liquor for sale. The raid netted twenty-eight gallons of mixed liquors.

At the sporting club, the secretary declared, Frank L. Shea of Talbot avenue, Dorchester, was arrested for selling whiskey to a patrolman on October 17. Shea pleaded guilty in court and paid a fine of $100, Cook said.

SAM CURTIS, BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN RADIO EXPERT, TRYING TO TUNE IN ON SANTA

Sam Curtis tuning in on Ivy Cape, Alaska, to get Santa Claus' headquarters.

If Communication Is Established With Alaska Workshop, Daily Reports Will Be Published

Because of the intense interest of thousands of children throughout New England in the articles concerning Santa Claus which have been appearing in the Boston Evening American, this paper has decided to investigate fully the rumors that "there is no Santa Claus," and report daily the results of its findings.

Believing implicitly that Santa Claus is not a character of fiction but a real, kind and most considerate loving saint, this newspaper will put its organization and its full resources to work to prove this fact to its readers.

One of the first tasks known of this famous man is that he spends all the year, with the exception of Christmas Eve, in Ivy Cape, Alaska, and it is there that the Boston Evening American will try to reach him.

It is probable that neither a letter nor telegram could reach him there now, as he lives in his workshop during the busy season and there is no way to get such messages delivered to him before December 6, when he takes his toys and Christmas presents in his home, to prepare for the long journey on Christmas Eve.

Therefore, it has been decided to resort to radio in the hopes that he has installed a radio set and will answer the messages. This newspaper is trying now from its own radio room to get in direct communication with Santa Claus. If this is accomplished it will then be easy to learn his plans for the coming Christmas and to find out whether or not he intends to visit the children of New England this year.

South Boston kiddies are all 100 per cent. believers in good old St. Nicholas and they are waiting his coming with the utter confidence of loyal, childish faith.

The Boston Evening American will print in full its messages to Santa Claus and his replies—if he answers. Remembering his great fondness for New England children, as shown in past years, there is little doubt that he will fall them now, but to assure its young reader this newspaper will inform them each day as to his plans so that they may know what to expect when they hang up their stockings on Christmas Eve.

Already many children have written to Santa Claus through this newspaper, telling him of their faith in him and expressing their wish that he visit them again this year. It is the intention of this newspaper to obtain the consent of Santa Claus to have mail for him sent to the Boston Evening American so that we can relay it to him through the air.

This would be a valuable service in speeding the wants and needs of the children to Santa Claus in order that he might know, long before he leaves his northern home, just what to bring with him. The Boston Evening American wants every child to be made happy on Christmas morning.

'Jackson's' Cabin Novelty to Dancers

An innovation in Boston dancing restaurants is "Jackson's Hunter's Cabin," just opened in the basement at No. 413 Washington street, by N. T. Jackson, proprietor of a tea room at the same address.

The "Cabin" is designed after the interior of Mr. Jackson's lodge at Tupper Lake, N. Y., in the Adirondacks, with hunting paraphernalia camouflaging the luxury of modern refinements. The restaurant is located in the heart of the theatrical district directly opposite the new Keith-Albee Theatre.

There is a spacious dance floor, in the rear of which is an alcove for the orchestra of six pieces under the direction of John Rines.

A number of booths and tables, accommodating 200 persons, range the sides of a large room, in the center of which is a big stone fireplace with an artificial electric coal fire. The walls are hung with guns, snowshoes, and other hunting equipment, while the walls are topped with stuffed foxes, lynx, raccoons and other animals.

Manager John C. Roth has prepared a schedule which starts at six o'clock when the room is opened. From then until 8.30 the dinner menu is served without cover charge. After 8.30 there is a cover charge of 50 cents, and the special supper is served. The room will remain open until one o'clock except Saturdays, when it will close at midnight.

WIFE'S SANITY DISCUSSED BY BARBOUR

Executor of Will Fought by Widow Says He Talked of Examination

Harold LeBaron Sampson, one of the executors of the will of the late John A. Barbour, which is being contested by his widow Mrs. Sadie L. Barbour, and his daughter, Mrs. Corinne E. Booth, in the Norfolk Superior Court, was the chief witness today.

He dwelt on several interviews he had with Mr. Barbour from 1912 until the time of his death a year ago. The mother and daughter were left the income from the estate and are seeking to be awarded the principal.

Mr. LeBaron went into detail in regard to a talk he had with Mr. Barbour relative to going into business with his brother, Percy Barbour, Mayor of Quincy, and in regard to having his John A. Barbour's, wife placed under observation as to her sanity.

The witness also told of a talk he had with John A. Barbour in regard to the support of Mrs. Martha Hooper, mother of Mrs. Barbour, and the witness also told of talking with Mr. Barbour in November, 1916, relative to changing his will and also of the making out of a will for Mrs. Barbour, which was done under instructions from Mr. Barbour after his wife had declined to see an attorney.

By the will the daughter is left the income from two-thirds of the estate and the mother is granted the income from one-third, and the real due is to go to different relatives in case of the deaths of the mother and daughter.

Continuing his direct testimony, Attorney Sampson said that Mr Barbour showed soundness of mind in his business dealings with the witness. He testified that Barbour was quick to understand difficult business transactions, and unusually quick in making decisions. The witness said he never saw any indications of mental or physical weakness in Barbour.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM HOME OF N. H. DOCTOR

Concord, N. H., Nov. 10 (A.P.)—The farmhouse, barn and outbuildings of Dr. J. E. Collins of Boscawen, were destroyed by fire early today. The loss was estimated at $9,000. A defective chimney is thought to have been the cause.

Fighting Will

SON, DIPLOMAT FOR U. S.; DAD FOR NORWAY

Both Harvard Graduates and Meet in New Roles at Oslo Next Month

For the first time possibly in the history of the diplomatic service, a father and son, both Harvard graduates each in the service of different country, will meet for reunion in Norway next month.

At that time, F. Herman Gade, Norwegian diplomat, will meet his son, Gerhard Gade, today appointed secretary to the American Legation at Oslo, Norway.

Back of the modern version of "Under Two Flags," is the story of the older Gade, who came to the United States from Norway at the age of seventeen.

He was graduated from Harvard and went to Illinois, where he became Mayor of Lake Forest, serving for five consecutive terms. In the meantime Gade married, and his son, following his father's footsteps, also went to Harvard.

In 1910 the elder Gade gave up his American citizenship, returned to his native country and entered the diplomatic service, at the present time being Norwegian Minister to Brazil.

Gerhard Gade remained in the United States, served in the American navy during the World War, and also entered the diplomatic service of his country.

Dispatches from Washington today announced his appointment a secretary to the American legation at Oslo.

QUIGLEY ASKS CHARGES BE SPECIFIED

Chelsea Mayor's Counsel to Put In Brief on Dismissal of Indictment

Judge James M. Morton in the federal Court today suspended decision on a motion to dismiss the indictment against Mayor Lawrence F. Quigley, charging conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, and allowed the defense counsel until Tuesday morning to file a brief and arguments in Quigley's behalf.

Attorney Essex Abbott appearing for Quigley, stated that the present indictment charged the defendant with conspiring to commit offences and places his client at such an unfair advantage that the defense would have to meet every section enumerated under the Volstead law. He added that he would ask for a bill of specifications in which the government would be forced to detail the one particular act of conspiracy.

Judge Morton intimated that the indictment was too sweeping, but indicated that he was inclined to follow the precedent laid down in similar cases.

U. S. Attorney George R. Farnum presented the case for the government and cited numerous cases and opinions where indictments charging a series of offences were held to be valid.

Maine Governor Will Issue a Statement After Debating Case With His Council

Augusta, Me., Nov. 10.—Comprising both Judge and Jury, Governor Brewster and his council sat down today to weigh the evidence in the Thomaston State prison scandal.

Although it is understood that no official action toward removals or a changed order of administration can be taken without special legislative action, the belief is that the Governor has a surprise to spring at the conference.

A statement from Governor Brewster and the council was promised late today in the senatorial case.

tea as "a safeguard against bigotry and oppression."

A nice compliment, but the press isn't so much of a safeguard against either. When bigotry is sufficiently powerful the press, on the whole, is extremely polite. When oppression takes the form of well organized capital, the press also is polite.

PROVIDENCE MAKES no mistakes, however, and press servility is a good thing in the long run.

Let bigotry and oppression go far enough and they destroy themselves. They always have done it, always will do it. In America the press lets them go to the limit. When the limit is reached, those that offend are kicked out. Frank, fearless criticism might make them last longer.

THE MAGNIFICENT W. K. Vanderbilt house in New York's Fifth Avenue will soon be turned over to wreckers and torn down. Meanwhile for charity, the crowd, to whom the name Vanderbilt means something, will pay to enter the house, wander about, contemplate the great dining room, two stories high, "and Mrs. Vanderbilt's room on the third floor with the bathroom cut from Italian marble."

All this, even the bathtub must pass away.

THE ONLY INTERESTING thing about it is the fact that Benjamin F. Winter, who owns and 16 tenants down the house to build something suitable, came here a poor Jewish boy not long ago. He has had more fun out of that Vanderbilt house than Vanderbilt, who built it, ever had. Winter, who EARNS his money and power, enjoys both.

COTTON DROPS again, off five to six dollars a bale for men that sit at home owning railroad stocks doing nothing. Putting up rates attends to that.

BUT IT IS almost "Socialism" to suggest government aid for cotton growers or other farmers. That is called "false political economy."

If little cotton growers, however, were as close as big railroad men are to the powers that be, things might change.

THE COLORADO DOCTOR who chloroformed his legless, armless, deaf and dumb wrinkle-minded daughter, after taking care of her for thirty-two years, says he believed he was sending her to Heaven and firmly believed in immortality.

A MAJORITY of human beings believe that they believe in immortality. But if all actually believed that death means immediate, heavenly bliss, how many would continue to live?

MOHAMMEDANS believe that death on the battlefield means instant transportation to a most fancy paradise, providing, free, ladies and wine, and many of them actually seek death in battle. Christians hang on to life, far into old age. They believe, but they are not quite prepared to bet on it.

FRANCE MUST print many billions of additional paper francs. When you print your money, unless you do it carefully, it is hard to hold its value. France has no choice and, for the moment, the French franc suffers.

BUT LOOK OUT how you sell France short, or gamble on the misfortune of the French nation.

The French are resourceful, courageous, thrifty, intelligent and patriotic. You cannot sell short with impunity the money of credit of such a nation.

Armistice Day Proclamation by Acting Mayor of Boston

TO the Citizens of Boston---I ask my fellow-citizens to recall Armistice Day and its significance by decorating their homes and houses with the National Colors, and I direct that all schoolhouses and public buildings fly the Stars and Stripes on that day.

I earnestly suggest that all business and traffic be suspended for a minute at 11 o'clock A. M. on Armistice Day and that all eyes at that moment be turned in silence towards the East, towards the continent of Europe and the scene of the memorable event the American people now honor as Armistice Day.

JAMES T. MORIARTY, Acting Mayor.

MRS. EDWARDS DENOUNCES PARADE AS PART FAKE

as the parade sponsors have announced.

The parade will start at 2:30 p. m. from Beacon and Arlington streets, proceeding up Beacon to School and Washington streets, to Temple place and across Tremont street into Boston Common where a meeting will be held at the Parkman band stand with identities of speakers as yet unchosen.

WITHDRAW SAS SPEAKER.

Captain William J. Blake, popular head of the Boston Veterans' Bureau, withdrew today as a speaker at the exercises on the Common. He gave as his reason the necessity of his attending the dedication of a new recreation building at the Rutland Veterans' Hospital.

It is known that Captain "Billy" received a letter yesterday from the parade sponsors, requesting him not to appear in uniform and telling that a German and maybe an American speaker would be on the program.

Captain Blake accepted the invitation to speak some time ago—before the real makeup of the Armistice Day line of march was known.

Hohenzollernites, exconvicts and the "peace-at-any-price" trend of several organizations participating in the parade are responsible for the recital of Joseph J. Hurley, prominent lawyer and American legion member, to serve as grand marshal.

Charging directly that some of the parade organizations are of small but "revolutionary criminal" tint that investigation has revealed Bolshevist traits, Mr. Hurley has issued a statement explaining his refusal to accept the invitation of the Rev. George L. Paine, general chairman of the parade, to act as grand marshal.

The organizations to which Mr. Hurley flies objections are the International League of Peace and Freedom, the Township of Youth for Peace, and the Fellowship of Reconciliation.

LISTS THREE BODIES.

In his statement Mr. Hurley says: "I admire and respect the aspirations of the majority of organizations in the roster of the parade. I cannot, however, conscientiously lead through the streets of patriotic Boston a parade combining such societies as the International League for Peace and Freedom, the Fellowship of Youth for Peace, and the Fellowship of Reconciliation. Investigation has shown these bodies to be advocates of peace at any price and dishonor in their tendencies. Some of their officers are convicted criminals. The presence of these organizations disgraces the whole parade. One bad apple can do the same to a good barrel."

Colonel Eben S. Draper, State Senator from Hopedale, son of ex-Governor Draper and chairman of the Victory Ball tomorrow night at the Copley-Plaza, said today of the parade:

"Armistice Day is the day of the World War veterans, and the bitterness and confusion precipitated by this non-veteran peace parade is to be deplored deeply by all who cherish the true sentiments of loyal American citizens toward Armistice Day.

"Why pick Armistice Day for the sort of parade that is anticipated?"

While the City Hall reminds silent on the issue, content with the announcement that Mayor Curley has returned from Philadelphia, he will be "out-of-town" and unable to review the procession, Governor Fuller has promised to support the parade and will act as reviewing officer. With him will be several prominent government officials as well as F. J. Good, commander of the Department of Massachusetts of the American Legion.

GOOD EXPLAINS.

Mr. Good has informed the Rev. Mr. Paine that he will be unable to accept the invitation to act as marshal as he was participating in the ceremonies arranged by the Military Order of the World War.

Commander Good explains the absence of the Legion in the parade in the fact that it is conducting its own ceremonies in conjunction with other military orders.

While the "peace at any price" trend was frowned upon by State Commander Elliot E. McDowell of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was said that the society had no desire to issue any statement which interfered in any way with the parade.

Jay R. H. Hunter, field director of the Industrial Defence Association. It was charged today that of the parading organizations still left in the roster more than one-third are rabidly Red, and most of them are named as such in the Senator Lusk report.

Director Hunter named as some of the Red organizations the League for Democratic Control, the League of Nations Non-Partisan League, the Fellowship of Reconciliation, Fellowship of Youth for Peace, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, Student Group of Young People, the Kindergarten Communistic Association for the Abolition of War, Cosmopolitan Club, Women's Trade Union League, Boston Socialist Party, Annie Besant Lodge Theosophical Society and Progressive Party.

CRIMSON HITS "JINGOES."

The Harvard Crimson today, in an editorial looking at the parade [illegible] complacently on the situation and characterizes the recalcitrant veterans as "jingoes" because of their refusal to parade with what the veterans assert to be radicals.

"If our memory is correct," says this editorial, "November 11 is hallowed as the day on which the barbarous Hun surrendered. Who, then, should have a better right to commemorate the day than workers for the [illegible] societies, forgetting the nobility of their cause, turn flippers, nothing could be more appropriate than their absence from the celebration."

The Military Order of the World War is not opposed to the ideals which are professed to be back of the peace parade according to General John R. Sheburne, commander of the Boston chapter of the organization. The stands for peace with honor and with safety. The Order feels that Armistice Day is essentially for veterans.

DEFENDS PARADERS.

In commenting on the charges made by veterans and certain organizations, Mary Caroline Crawford, publicity agent of the Armistice Day Committee, said:

"The whole story is ridiculous, and is the work of a small group who have shown their hands on other occasions in a similar manner. The organization known as the Industrial Defense Association through its representative, E. H. Hunter, distributed this connection of false charges would be discredited and made to appear as a procession of radicals.

The Rev. Mr. Paine retaliated to parallel charges with a statement which reads in part:

"We allowed three or four pacifist organizations to be included with the many other organizations for the simple reason that this was avowedly a movement to enlist the co-operation of all conscientious, loyal people, who earnestly desired the promotion of international justice, goodwill, and the preservation of peace. And we would have welcomed the most extreme militarists, whose honest purpose was the promotion of peace, but they also wished to participate with us.

"We knew perfectly well we would be subject to some criticism by the ultra-conservatives and some militarists, but we felt confident that our principle was right, and that the vast majority of the citizens of Boston would have the good common sense to know that the men and women who were running this enterprise, and the important influential organizations, which they represented, were not going to be dominated or unduly influenced by a mighty small division of the whole group enlisted.

"As Governor Fuller so finely phrased it: 'The meeting won't be all red, nor part pink, nor anything but Red, White and Blue.'"

Ball to Climax Armistice Day for the Veterans

The seventh anniversary of the armistice will be observed tomorrow by veterans and civilians with exercises on Boston Common and at other points with banquets and with the Massachusetts victory ball at the Copley-Plaza in the night.

All Boston's bigger stores, with the exception of one military clothing establishment, will remain open but at 11 a. m. an impressive ceremony will take place when all Boston—traffic, pedestrian and workers—are asked to pause wherever they may be and turn eyes to the East, toward Europe, in memory of the armistice signing.

Acting Mayor James T. Moriarty made this request today. In an Armistice Day proclamation struck off at the instigation of the Boston Evening American.

One of the features of the day's exercises will be the dedication and official opening of the new recreation hall at the Veterans' Hospital, No. 89, in Rutland.

Needed in attendance are the [illegible] of the United States Veterans' Bureau, regional [illegible] England, government officials from state and nation commanders and presidents of American Legion auxiliaries, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Veterans of British-American War, Disabled American Veterans, Grand Army of the Republic, Military Order of the World War, Red Cross, W. C. T. U., Knights of Columbus, Elks, Masons and commanding officers of United States Veterans' hospitals in the East.

MARCH TO BANDSTAND.

At 10:45 a. m. tomorrow the Boston Chapter of the Military Order of the World War will assemble at the Shaw Memorial facing the State House and from there, escorted by a detail of Army, Navy and Marine troops, will march to the Parkman bandstand for brief exercises to be held in commemoration of the Armistice signing on November 11, 1918.

In the evening, the order will hold its annual banquet at the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

The American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars also will hold commemoration exercises on the Common and at night, in the Copley-Plaza, the latter organization will hold its Massachusetts Victory Ball.

The grand march is scheduled for 9:30 p. m. and dancing will continue until 2 o'clock Thursday morning.

13 FRIDAY, BUT LUCKY, AT THAT

Here's the original jinx-proof kid. He's Philip Barry of Winthrop, who'll be 13 on Friday, the 13th. He laughs at all superstitions and he's been lucky all his life.

JINX-DAY BABY JUST LAUGHS AT SUPERSTITIONS

Philip Barry of No. 181 River road, Winthrop, doesn't believe in a jinx. Philip will be thirteen years old Friday the thirteenth, and declares that date is not only his birthday, but his lucky day. He isn't the least superstitious.

"Phil," as he is known to many residents of Winthrop, likes football and all outdoor sports.

He has no complaint to make regarding luck thus far. At the last Elks' carnival he was the winner of a valuable table.

He has three brothers, all in college. John is at Harvard, Joseph at Exeter and Burton at George town. Two years ago he made the trip to Washington alone to visit his brother Gordon.

"Phil" also hopes to go to college.

CHARGES VET'S WIFE CHEERED AGAINST MATE

he was always ready to help out an ex-service man, he being one himself.

"Once Mrs. Hennessey came to me," declared Barrett, "and said she had trouble at home and asked me for money for a room. I gave her $5."

Asked in cross-examination if he was in the habit of giving money away, Barrett replied:

"I'll help anyone."

Mrs. Mabel Wright, whose husband, Roy, has been mentioned several times in the hearings, took up the cudgel for Mrs. Hennessey and said she had known the Hennesseys in Wakefield for many years.

"Hennessey often called me on the telephone," she testified. "On June 17, 1924, he called early in the morning and asked if Roy was home. I replied that he was and called him. After a conversation, Roy went out.

"Once, when my husband and myself were visiting the Hennessey home, Jim came up the stair and said 'I'm not surprised to see the Wrights' car out front.' This started an argument and Jim pulled Margaret around the dining room.

"Hennessey also called me on another occasion and told me that Roy had attended a dance with five women. Roy was working that night."

The marriage of the Hennesseys was an elopement, according to Mrs. Alice Donaldson. Mrs. Hennessey's mother, who said she never gave her consent for the marriage. When they returned from the wedding Hennessey said, according to the witness: "Well, this is a wedding—not a funeral."

Mrs. Hennessey took the stand this afternoon. She said she left her husband because he "abused her."

On June 24" she testified, "I went to my sister's home in North Truro and later we went to Boston. Returning, my husband met me and asked 'Who have you been out with today,' Then he struck me."

More about "Brownie" came out in testimony of Miss Julia Flannagan, of Everett, who explained Mrs Hennessey's presence in "Brownie's" car by saying she knew the man and that he had taken Mrs. Hennessey home after she and the Hennessey woman had been to the movies in Malden.

"He said he was going her way," testified Miss Flannagan, "and offered to take Mrs. Hennessey home."

One-Way Street Law Off During Parade

With a thought of harassed motorists in mind, Police Superintendent Michael H. Crowley has plotted out open routes around tomorrow's parade zone and motorists may proceed as follows, regardless of one-way street designations:

Going north in Tremont street: Turn wrong way into West street, cross Washington, through Bedford to Summer and Federal or High streets.

North in Washington street: Turn wrong way into Bedford and proceed as above.

Traffic south from Scollay square side of parade zone: Climb hill to Pemberton square, to Somerset street, Ashburton place, Mt. Vernon street to the Esplanade and from thence out to Beacon street. Or, through Devonshire to Otis streets, thence to Summer and Kingston, turning right into either Essex, Beach or Kneeland streets.

2 SICK WOMEN REGAIN HEALTH
Through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Read their Letters

Valdosta, Georgia.—"I was troubled with a very severe female weakness accompanied by some very painful and nasty symptoms and with pains in my back, sides and legs. Since taking a treatment of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am better in every way, and the unpleasant symptoms have disappeared. Your medicine is wonderful for nervous, run-down women."—Mrs. I. O. DASHER, R.F.D. 4, Box 14, Valdosta, Georgia.

Relief from First Bottle

Battle Creek, Mich.—"I had great pains and swelling in my sides, pains so bad at times that I could not do my housework or stand on my feet for weeks and I was in very nervous condition. In a Cleveland paper I read a letter about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had great relief from the first bottle and I shall continue its use because I believe and know it helps me. I want to help other women and I am glad to answer letters."—Mrs. C. E. PALMER, 295 Champion St., Battle Creek, Mich.

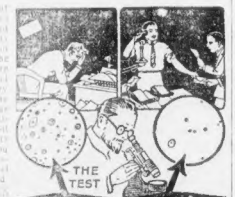
DRUGGED! INDICAN Shows Why People Feel That Way

ASK your doctor about INDICAN. He will tell you it is a substance looked for in examining his patient thoroughly. If he finds it, you—it means that the poisons of constipation are seeping through your blood into every muscle and nerve and joint. This is what does the damage. It robs you of your pep—it poisons your complexion and good spirits—it pales your face and puts blemishes there—it gives you headaches—causes indigestion. No wonder you feel drugged when constipated.

You can get rid of INDICAN. Carter's Little Liver Pills have been found not only to relieve constipation—but to relieve it quickly, but also drive the INDICAN from the system.

Make This Test: Have an analyst examine your urine now and if the doctor reports the presence of INDICAN, take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Then have another test made and see how the INDICAN disappears, how your complexion brightens and clears, your tongue is cleaned and sweet, your head clear and you can eat like a kid again, in most cases.



THE TEST
He didn't know he was poisoned—a little Liver Pills for only a few days—note the clean, normal specimen—FREE FROM TRACE OF INDICAN.
Same man after taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for only a few days—note the clean, normal specimen—FREE FROM TRACE OF INDICAN.

Important: Carter's Little Liver Pills, used for 67 years by millions of people all over the world, is a purely vegetable preparation and contains no drugs of any nature. It therefore acts on a natural way and is non-habit forming. Money refunded if results are not satisfactory.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Courtenay Guild Gives Dance to Dewson Twins at Hotel Somerset

TWO AFFAIRS FOR THE Misses Ada and Delinda Dewson, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Dewson of Milton, started the week's round of festivities for the buds. There was a small dance for the twins given by Courtenay Guild at the Hotel Somerset, and just preceding Mrs. Arthur Moors entertained for the buds at a dinner for some thirty-two guests.

AUTUMN TINTED BLOSSOMS decked the dinner tables and in the ballroom there was delicate greenery banked about the wall lights, with massed flowers to make a setting for the receiving line. Mrs. Dewson, in a handsome frock of black net overlaid with rich pattern of gold, received with the host and her daughters.

MRS. MOORS, DINNER hostess, was handsome and stately in black velvet with silver and the Dewson twins were, of course, in exactly similar frocks of velvet, girlish and straight of line. Miss Ada in sky blue and Miss Delinda wearing soft rose pink.

OF THE BUD GUESTS, Miss Faith Jones wore a frock of pale green. Miss Eleanor Frothingham's gown was a crisp taffeta of palest blue with gracefully swaying bouffant skirt and snug bodice and Miss Christine Reid chose a rich, dark blue velvet. Miss Eleanor Lane, a sub-debutante, was in peche velvet.

FRANCIS FAY MILLER, a Princeton man, came up from New Jersey to be at the dance and act as usher in the squad headed by Norman Vaughan, and Sidney Eaton, Harrison Musgrave, Gordon Guild, Edward Johnson, Newlin Wildes and Roderick Stebbins, Jr., also served.

Photograph Cruickshank Studio

MRS. RICHARD K. THORNDIKE, who is assisting in honoring Miss Helen Thorndike at a number of bud functions at the beginning of the New Year. Miss Thorndike is a daughter of the Harry Hill Thorndikes.

EVERY FEMININE EYE, of course, will focus on Lady Diana Manners and Miss Iris Tree tomorrow week at the Copley-Plaza when these two lovely young women appear as honor guests of Mrs. Nelson W. Howard and her cohorts of the Professional Women's Club.

HAMILTON McFADDEN, who did such yeoman service for the Little Theatre movement last Summer at the Fenway in Salem, also is a lion of the occasion, coming from Gotham to sit with the mighty at the luncheon.

ALSO WITHIN the magic circle will be Schuyler Ludd, handsome Prince of "The Miracle," and, locally speaking, the Hons will be Mesdames Alvan T. Fuller and Andre W. Brewster and Major-General Brewster.

BY WAY OF CONTRAST to the predominating bud flavor, the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Thorndike and John Paterson Duncan shines brightly as an occasion of brilliance, on Thursday in the New Old South Church with Newporters and New Yorkers to swell the ranks of notable wedding guests.

THE STUART DUNCANS, parents of the bridegroom, have both Newport and Gotham residences, and the Gotham connection is carried also by Mrs. Alden Augustus Thorndike, mother of the handsome and vivacious bride-elect. Mrs. Thorndike, as Helen Hackett, was closely affiliated with Big City persons of prominence.

FROM ONE GAIETY to another the Thorndike-Duncan wedding party moves. Tomorrow they motor to Southboro for the St. Mark's School football game, after luncheon at the Thorndike town house in Commonwealth avenue, and return to town for dinner for 40 guests at the Somerset.

ON THURSDAY, Mrs. Oliver Crocker Stevens, before the ceremonial, is hostess for the bridal party. Out of town guests include Mr. and Mrs. John du Pais, who come up from Newport to attend the festivities.

SPEAKING OF NEWPORT, the rumor that Prince and Princess Edward Joseph Lobkowicz (Anita Lilmei are to be at the Rhode Island spa next Summer brings a fillip of interest to members of the colony.

COLLEGE YOUTH and its feminine friends will crowd the Hotel Copley-Plaza on November 20 for the "night before the game" dance which inaugurates the annual Harvard-Yale football classic.

THE USUAL PROGRAM of continuous dancing and cabaret promises an evening quite to the undergraduate's liking, to say nothing of the scores of "Old Grads" who come to town to celebrate for Alma Mater.

Betty Alden

BOSTON A. A. R. I. R. PLANS FOR MOVIE-CONCERT

The Greater Boston committee of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic will conduct a concert and moving picture entertainment at Franklin Union Hall, Berkeley street, Thursday night.

The picture, "My Wild Irish Rose," will be followed by news reels and a comic. A concert of Irish songs and dances will be given.

The affair is the first of a series planned for the Winter.

WIVES SPEND 85 CENTS OF DOLLAR

Mrs. Radnor-Lewis Tells Ad Men Moral Is to Play Up to Them

Assuming that women spend 85 cents of every dollar that men make, Mrs. Carolyn T. Radnor-Lewis, of H. B. Mollinson & Co., Inc., New York, told members of the Boston Advertising Club at luncheon at the Hotel Bellevue today that modern advertising should be written and placed with a view toward interesting the women in particular.

Her talk was prefaced with the assertion that "It takes a woman to understand a woman."

"Women spend 96 per cent of all that is expended on dry goods, 87 per cent. of all that is expended on foodstuffs, in fact 85 cents out of every dollar a man earns is spent by a woman," the speaker said. She classed daily newspapers as the best possible advertising medium.

William P. Rogers, president of the club, presided at the luncheon, which was largely attended.

REVIVE MOVE TO REDUCE BROOKLINE HIGH HOURS

Agitation for a reduction in hours at Brookline High School was revived at a meeting of the school committee. Pupils and many parents favor dropping one-half hour and closing at 1:30 daily instead of 2 o'clock. The school opens at 8:30. Headmaster Akers suggested that an arrangement might be made by which students with passing marks could be released at 1:30. The matter was brought up by Francis Nicolls, Public School Association member of the committee. A subcommittee was appointed to investigate and report at a future meeting. This committee includes Orrin G. Wood, Henry Warn and Superintendent of Schools Oscar C. Gallagher.

Sale Price $5.20 Per Doz

Cloths and Napkins are of heavy imported Linen Damask, in many beautiful designs and splendid values. For Thanksgiving needs at these prices.

150 Plaid Blankets

Formerly $7.50

Sale Price $5.98

While with Pink, Blue, Tan, Grey and Lavender plaids. 50% all pure wool. Large enough for a full size bed. This value should make you anticipate your needs for the cold winter nights ahead of us.

120 Comfortables

Retail Value $10.50

Sale Price $8.80

We were fortunate indeed to secure this lot of Comfortables of which we sold so many in our sale about 3 weeks ago, when we hadn't enough to go around. They are exactly the same, filled with a 100% pure Virgin Wool and covered with a rich, heavy quality of flowered sateen on top, with 9-inch border and back of plain sateen to match. Newest colors to choose from.

1200 Prs. Silk Stockings

Usually at $1.65

Sale Price $1.10 Per Pr.

Because of some very slight imperfections which are barely discernible, manufacturer closed out this lot to us at a great sacrifice. That's the reason for this extraordinary low price we quote this week. Mind you they are full fashioned. All pure silk, with the exception of garter top and lisle heels and toes. Sizes 8½, 9, 9½ and 10, newest and best colors, but not every size in every color.

ACTING OF ELSIE FERGUSON IS EXCELLENT

Her Work Alone Carries "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" Along at Park

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

UPON many occasions in her lively career Elsie Ferguson has found more glory than that which drapes her pretty shoulders in "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter" at the Park. At the best the affair turned out to be nothing more exciting than a conversational combat in which a safely escaped Russian duchess discovered a blushing pulse at every appearance of the handsome waiter in her Swiss hotel.

Romantic passions took a new turn in this extremely lilted comedy by Alfred Savoir. There was innocuous conversation about Rolshevism concerning the chances of the grand duchess in regaining her lost prestige; there was a regal refinge which cluttered the stage during the early moments of the play with idle chatter; and finally there was the waiter, who turned out to be no waiter at all but simply the son of the affluent owner of a flock of hotels—an Oxford man willing to dangle over a table or a buffet in order to be near the lady of his dreams.

PROCEEDINGS ARTIFICIAL

Judged by ordinary standards the play was dull, though its author had given many timely services to the comedy of his dear old Paris. There are those who still revel with a smile at its amusing "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife" deliciously Parisian and infectious.

Miss Ferguson's comedy in this instance was distinctly Parisian, but not particularly infectious. This interesting lady, of course, gave charm to her performance—but no great measure of delight. She was beautiful and gorgeous to look upon, and there was a certain sparkle in her finally developed interest in the cultured, amorous waiter. But the entire proceedings were artificial. Nothing rang true. The lady herself was cold and calculating; the boy merely a slim lipped lad of general college boy amiability.

CREDIT IS MISS FERGUSON'S.

Basil Rathbone gave Miss Ferguson as much support as could be expected in the role of waiter and chamber guardian. He deserved a better fate. Alison Skipworth, who seldom fails when called to the service of her theatre, was interesting as the companion of the duchess. Three meagre items dispose of a long cast.

It's a lingering title—"The Grand Duchess and the Waiter"—and Miss Ferguson was all that kept it from being a lingering, tiresome play.

4 HEADLINERS AT KEITH'S

Song, story and dance in great abundance feature an unusually good bill at Keith's this week, honors being evenly divided among four headlining acts.

Adele Rowland, story teller in song par excellence, with her catchy smile, is a real hit. Particularly pleasing was her last number.

Georgie Price, back again with his rapid-fire pot pourri in "What Price Georgie?" shows little Georgie up in great value. His song impersonations of Eddie Cantor, Al Jolson and Jimmy Hussey are choice.

Billie Maye and Harry Roye are back at the local playhouse with the most pretentious offering presented by them, assisted by the Loredo Sisters and a company of four clever dancers. Lavishly gowned and fantastically gorgeous in its effects, it gives the impression of an elaborate miniature revue.

The remainder of the bill satisfies every theatrical wish from Bert Levy and his interesting sketches and whistling to the Nagyfyan weird wonderists, defying Nature's laws, as they are billed.

Tom Brown and his minstrels took the house, but so did Doris Canfield and Eddie Allen, model Doris in a screamingly funny skit "Gimme the Makin's." The audience was highly appreciative. The Gaudsmith Brothers, assisted by Bob and Pete, clever canines, are expert acrobats. Canary Cottage, "Birds in a Gilded Cage" a new way to present trapeze workers, was cleverly put across. Aesop's Fables and Topics of the Day, added to Pathe News, rounded out one of the best aggregation of features Keith's has offered in a long time.

"IRON HORSE" THRILLING FILM AT LOEW'S ORPHEUM

The audience at Loew's Orpheum had the privilege yesterday of seeing "The Iron Horse," William Fox's picturesque film, showing opening of the great West to the railroads. The story depicts the race between the Central Pacific and the Union Pacific railroads for mileage in the battle to lay a pathway of steel across the continent.

The vaudeville was headed by the female impersonator, Francis Renault, known as the original slave of fashion. Mr. Renault displayed an array of stunning gowns and wraps. Cheerful entertainment also was furnished by Lola Girlie and Senia, in a terpsichorean feature.

Coming Events

George Arliss, in "Old English," will be the attraction at the Wilbur next Monday.

Fred Stone, and his interesting family, will return to the Colonial next Monday, in "Stepping Stones."

"The School For Scandal," with a hand picked, all-star cast will take over the Hollis next week.

"Artists and Models" will take the stage at the Majestic next Monday.

Madge Kennedy, in "Beware of Widows," is announced as the attraction at the Plymouth next week.

"Phantom of the Opera," will be the film feature at the Metropolitan next week.

"The Road to Yesterday" will be shown at the Fenway for a week, starting next Saturday.

Week's Features

SCOLLAY SQ.—Buck Jones in "The Timber Wolf," presenting also Buck's equine pal, Silver Buck. A film drama of thrills with tingling feats of horsemanship. Elinor Fair leads the supporting cast. Vaudeville, headed by George Damerel in "Words and Music."

GAYETY—(Burlesque) "Fashion Parade," featuring J. H. Hamp and Gertrude Beck.

CASINO—(Burlesque) Mollie Williams in her own show, supported by Victor Plant and Bobby.

SHAWMUT—"Drusilla With A Million," featuring Mary Carr. Also vaudeville, with Mal Hallett's Arcadian Symphonians featured.

MODERN—"The Golden Princess," with Betty Bronson, Nell Hamilton, Rockliffe Fellowes and Phyllis Haver; also "The People vs. Nancy Preston."

BOWDOIN SQ.—Mary Pickford in "Little Annie Rooney"; Raymond Griffith in "He's a Prince," and "Your Own Back Yard."

HOWARD—(Burlesque) "Broadway Belles." Vaudeville and pictures.

BEACON—"The Golden Princess," with a cast headed by Betty Bronson, and "The People vs. Nancy Preston."

NEW MIX FILM TRIUMPH FOR TONY, TOO

"Everlasting Whisper" at New Boston Filled With Many Thrilling Climaxes

All the thrills and stunts expected of a Tom Mix film are heaped up in good measure in his latest release, "The Everlasting Whisper," at the New Boston this week.

And there's some brand new tricks for the handsome Tony to go through. Really, Tony is getting to be a distinguished actor and is indispensable to the "dramatic personae" in any of the hard riding, quick shooting experiences of his master. In fact, Tony has risen to such an eminence that now he has his own "big" scenes.

And there's a real "kick," both figuratively and literally where he is shown desperately fighting for his life with a drove of hungry wolves.

"The Everlasting Whisper" seems to be a rather tender title for rough and tumble doings, but perhaps it refers to the sentimental sighing of the mountain pines where the young lovers meet after the last remaining villain has been tossed over the cliff.

There's another funny Hal Roach comedy this week showing Buck Montana as a gentleman crook "breaking into" high society.

REPERTORY THEATRE TO OPEN WITH "THE RIVALS"

The new Repertory Theatre will open its doors to the public today. Ground was broken for its erection on Armistice Day, 1924, and thus its opening on Armistice Eve, 1925, comes within a year of the beginning of it construction. The play will be Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," with the stage settings by Norman Geddes, designed by him for the Players' Club production of the play in New York.

CHARACTERS IN 'CLASSIFIED' TRUE TO LIFE

Metropolitan Feature of Week Not in the Least Overdrawn

Sweet are the uses of the classified ad columns! For Corinne Griffith they have yielded up a husband; as you will see in "Classified," the week's feature at the Metropolitan.

This Edna Ferber story of the little Want Ad taker on one of the large New York newspapers is alive with thoroughly human people. The situations are not overdrawn and it gives you a new angle on the modern flapper, wise in the ways of the big city and perfectly able to look out for herself.

It is a distinctly unmelodramatic heroine that you see in Babs Comet. Not for her is it necessary to swoon into the brave arms of the hero when danger is high and the designing sharks hold no terrors for her because she is "hep" to most men and can tell a real one at a glance.

It is true that the films bring out as many down-to-earth folk as the characters in "Classified." Ward Crane is a "heavy" of the manicured nails variety who uses his snuff without a waxed moustache.

'Lightnin'' at Tremont Temple

"Lightnin'" in film form struck Boston last night—the bolt falling in Tremont Temple and it will remain for a run.

The film form of the late Frank Bacon's phenomenal stage success seemed to fulfill the expectations of a large audience. All in all "Lightnin'" is a thoroughly enjoyable picture play—one to bring tears and laughter, giggles and gasps. Among those in the cast are: Jay Hunt, the old Hub favorite; Madge Bellamy, Edgar Clayton, Wallace McDonald, Otis Harlan, Edythe Chapman, Richard Traverse, Brandon Hurst and James Marcus.

FAIRBANKS IN "DON Q, SON OF ZORRO," AT STATE

"Don Q, Son of Zorro," with Douglas Fairbanks dashing lightheartedly through the title role, made fun for the audience at Loew's State yesterday. The picture has dash, charm, and an abundance of bubbling wit. From the standpoint of entertainment it is unquestionable the best picture Fairbanks has ever made. The star plays a dual role. He is seen as Zorro, a sedate Zorro, mellow and philosophical with the passing of years but a fighter for all of that, and as the son, Don Q., a dashing devil-may-care spirit. The picture is replete with the usual Fairbanks hair-raising stunts.

Continuing Shows

TREMONT—Marx Brothers in "The Cocoanuts." Aided and abetted by an Irving Berlin score.

CASTLE SQ.—"Abie's Irish Rose." Rich comedy of every day folk.

MAJESTIC — "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady." The Pat Rooney family in lively entertainment.

COPLEY—"The Creaking Chair." Showing that thrills and chills have a popular place in the drama.

PLYMOUTH — "The Firebrand." Final week of a comedy of Sixteenth century Florence.

HOLLIS—"Weeds." In which Berton Churchill comes into fame as shifty-card dealer.

SHUBERT—"The Student Prince." Impressive operetta based on "Old Heidelberg."

WILBUR—"June Days." Merry musical comedy adapted from "The Charm School."

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE — "The Miracle." Morris Gest's presentation of the Max Reinhardt spectacle.

When tobaccos are good enough to speak for themselves

—let them say it!

THAT'S the one way to give men what they want in a cigarette—natural tobacco taste. Each type of tobacco should contribute—one its spicy tang, one its rich aroma, one its mellow "body," one its mild sweetness; and if the quality is right and the blend is right, that's all there is to it.

Sounds easy!

But to create a blend that combines fullness with mildness; that removes heaviness while retaining "character"; that makes a cigarette that is smooth and mild yet "satisfying"—to do all this is not easy, far from it.

It is so difficult, in fact, that millions of smokers sincerely believe it has been achieved in only one blend in the world.

This blend—and they swear by it—belongs to Chesterfield. It embodies the finest of Turkish and American tobaccos—and it can't be copied.

Home-made Supply of Fine Cough Syrup

Better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily prepared

If you combine the curative properties of cough syrups which you probably have, you get an even better curative power as there is a little wisdom behind it. Start first from any druggist's 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar and water, strained honey, corn, or corn syrup as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. It's pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the throat tickle and heals the irritated membranes as nothing else can. It is truly wonderful how quickly a persistent cough disappears. Also splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma. Doctors could do no better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

BEAUTIFY IT WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Just Dip to Tint or Boil to Dye

Each 15-cent package contains directions so simple that even the most inexperienced can tint soft, delicate shades or dye rich, permanent colors to any garment, even coverings, hangings—everything.

Buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—and tell your druggist whether the material you wish to color is wool or silk or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Letter the word RATIONS lengthwise on a strip of paper, or cardboard. Then cut the letters apart, being careful not to lose any of them. You will observe that in the accompanying diagram the letter O happens to fall in the heavy-bordered square. Discard that letter and rearrange the other six letters and one more, which you must supply yourself, so that they spell a seven-letter word corresponding to the definition below. Letter the word in across Step 1 in the diagram and repeat the performance progressing to Step 2 and so on to the bottom step. There is a heavy bordered square on each step to indicate which letter is to be discarded.

DR. REED'S SECRETS OF HEALTH

By Charles A. L. Reed, M. D.

Have you ever paused to consider the extent to which you are influenced by that indefinite something that is called prestige?

This word, as usually employed, means higher than the usual standing. It actually means standing first or foremost. It may be applied alike to persons or institutions, the latter being of course but an aggregate of individuals.

Prestige, however, as appreciated by you and as it influences you, is always something that you must measure or determine for yourself.

If you employ a doctor from among the many in the district, or town, or city in which you live, you do so because that doctor has a certain prestige in your estimation.

Prestige is, therefore, the basis of your confidence in his learning and skill.

When the doctor of your choice, chosen because of his prestige with you, gives you a prescription or tenders you advice you are very liable to take the one and follow the other because of that same prestige.

If, however, you casually meet another doctor who has even greater prestige in his profession, or in the country, a fact unknown to you, and he tenders you some advice, a sort of curbstone prescription, you will probably give his attention to it. This is simply because the eminent physician has no prestige in your estimation.

It is for this reason that intelligent physicians decline to proffer unsolicited advice, realizing that it is practically "useless to exercise their judgment or skill unless they are assured of a certain prestige with the recipient of their counsels."

Any suggestion, however valuable, that does not carry with it a certain prestige generally falls on sterile ground. This is so nearly an axiom that it can be taken as applying not only to medical advice, but to advice in all other relations in life.

I know professors of political science and of economics and of philosophy who are constantly saying very wise things couched in very excellent terms and uttered with an emphasis calculated to carry conviction. I have seen, or rather heard, these utterances fall practically unheeded by both the students and the public. I heard the same subjects, or some of them, presented less forcibly by writers of renown and by thinkers in great universities, who only thought they thought with the result that everybody sat up and took notice. The difference was entirely one of prestige.

Authors of well written books have had their manuscripts declined until, after having acquired certain prominence by one means or another, they have had the same manuscripts accepted by the same publishers. The authors had in the meantime acquired prestige a very merchantable asset from the standpoint of the publisher.

This is really a very practical question, one intimately related to your health and success in these days of all pervading suggestion.

SHE DIDN'T NEED A CALENDAR

By Foxy Grandpa

"I WONDER what that was?" asked Bunny, looking back into the thicket which bordered the river where Bobby was fishing.

"Just the leaves blowing, I suppose," said Bobby.

"Wouldn't be too sure of it," replied Bunny, looking very doubtful. "Sounded like that." I assured him.

Bobby caught a fish at this moment and flung it back on the ground right at my feet and came near me to loosen it from the hook.

He squatted down on the ground and after he had the fish free from the hook, sat down to admire it. But just as he was about to sit on the ground he suddenly got up and said:

"My, there's something hard under those leaves. Must be a rock."

And Bobby started to dig the leaves and rubbish away from the hard object on which he had sat.

"What do you think of that?" exclaimed Bobby.

"Why, it's a great big egg!" I cried. "Ostrich egg?" asked Bobby, looking at Bunny.

"Hardly think ostriches live near this river," said Bunny.

"Then it must be a very big bird," insisted the little boy.

"Might be well to move from here," Bunny advised after a quick scurry in which I thought he had done an awful lot of stirring up of leaves. "They're a lot of them around here."

"But eggs can't hurt us," argued Bobby.

"But the mother who laid them might," explained Bunny.

"Whoever heard of a bird hurting anyone except an eagle or a vulture?"

"If Bunny thinks we had better move, let's do it," I said, getting up. "He's a pretty good guide in wild places."

Bobby gathered his fishing tackle together reluctantly and we were just about to go further up the river when something happened.

Bunny gazed Bobby, and pointed to the ground.

What do you think was happening? Do you know that those eggs were hatching and that baby ostriches were coming out of them? Some ran for the jungle and some ran for the woods.

We were astonished and stood there with our mouths open like those gaping fishes.

Then something else happened. There was a rustling in the grasses near the bank—the very noise we had heard before — and right there before our eyes out came a great big mother ostrich and gathered her babies around her like a hen would collect her chicks! Then down into the river they went and all we saw were bobbles rising to the surface of the water.

"Did she sit on those eggs?" asked Bobby. "Perhaps we frightened her away."

"No," said Bunny. "Crocodiles don't hatch out their eggs. They go away and leave them after they have covered them up as you saw them."

"But she was there when they did hatch out," ventured Bobby.

"Yes," exclaimed Bunny, "that's a mysterious thing. Crocodiles know when their eggs should hatch out and are always present to welcome their babies into the world and they never heard of a calendar."

CUTTER SPEAKS TO TRAFFIC LEADERS

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

President Victor M. Cutter of the United Fruit Co. speaks to New England traffic leaders this evening before the Traffic Club of New England at the Copley-Plaza. The first [illegible] thought would not include the president of this great industrial among "traffic men," though, as Britain is known as the United Kingdom, so is this company sometimes called "the United Fruit Kingdom."

Victor M. Cutter

United Fruit is in reality a much more important "state" than a good many places which might be readily found on the maps of the two worlds, old and new. Its activities embrace [illegible] nearly everything that concerns a tropical estate. As for traffic, well, that is largely over the blue, rolling Atlantic and United Fruit's expenditures for [illegible] alone run into seven figures yearly. President Cutter must certainly be pretty well versed in the problems of traffic.

* * *

Harvey A. Sweetser, district manager of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, called on the writer to supply him with an interesting book just issued by the department on "Rubber Production in the Amazon Valley." It is particularly timely, arriving when rubber stocks are [illegible] partly as the result of factors affecting the world crop.

* * *

Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau, who was promoted to the post from an instructorship at Harvard, sponsors the book. Those who still believe there is no romance in modern trade ought to read this volume.

* * *

Benjamin B. Thayer, vice-president of the Anaconda Copper Mining Company, is in Butte on his periodical inspection of the properties of the company. Mr. Thayer remarked that there was every evidence that business conditions were improving in the West and that the copper outlook was good, as well as the lead and zinc. The copper surplus is gradually dwindling and if the demand keeps up at anywhere near present levels it will only be a short time before the production will have to be increased.

Charles Hayden of Hayden, Stone & Co. has been elected a director of Remington Typewriter in place of J. Russell Carney, resigned.

Walter C. Baylies of Taunton, a director of the Boston & Maine Railroad for some time prior to an extended trip to Europe last year has been re-elected a director.

"Although the number of cars handled by us in October is slightly ahead of last year, due to change in the nature of the same it is more than likely we will not quite equal the $7,094,807 net operating income record of a year ago," says President Storey of the Atchison.

In line with statement of prospects previously made in this column, Bingham Mines has declared a dividend of $1, payable Dec. 30 to stock of record Dec. 19. This compares with several dividends in previous quarters.

BY B. C. FORBES

A job that brings you into contact with other people has advantages. An analysis of the careers of our most conspicuously successful business leaders reveals that most of them who began at the very bottom had work which gave them opportunity to rub shoulders with the people and to learn about human nature.

* * *

The corner grocery store, one finds on delving into the life stories of big men, has been particularly productive of successful men. In some instances employers spotted promising grocery lads and offered them a chance. In other instances bright grocery clerks went in search of wider opportunities and succeeded in reaching the top. Apparently, keen-minded grocery lads get a valuable close-up, not only of business, but of human nature.

* * *

Did you know that Abraham Lincoln served in a country store, specializing in groceries, before he blossomed out as a lawyer? It is fair to assume that Lincoln gathered some of his unexcelled knowledge of the "common people" while serving them behind the counter.

* * *

George F. Baker, the veteran New York banker, and one of the half-dozen richest men in America, worked in a store before he switched into banking. A. C. Bedford, the head of Standard Oil of New Jersey, who recently died, sold ribbons. John D. Archbold, one of John D. Rockefeller's most intimate associates, began as a grocery boy. Minor C. Keith, who has done more than any other man alive to develop the resources of Central America, started life in a store.

* * *

It was while Charles M. Schwab was serving in a grocery store at Braddock, Pa., that he met Captain Bill Jones, boss of the Edgar Thomson Works, owned by Carnegie. Young Schwab had his eyes wide open. One day he sounded out Captain Bill as to the prospect of a job in the big steel plant. Captain Bill hired him at a dollar a day. Before he was out of his twenties Schwab was introduced to Andrew Carnegie by Captain Bill as a "young man who knows as much about this mill as I do." Much of Schwab's subsequent success has been due to his aptitude for handling human beings the right way.

Are you making the most of your opportunities to rub shoulders with others and to learn the art of getting along well with your fellow-mortals?

$678,800,000 PHONE 'MELON' MAY BE CUT

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.)—Wall street has been busy making a compilation of the surpluses of large railroad and industrial corporations on the theory under the provisions of the new tax bill it will be profitable to divide these in favor of stockholders by capitalizing the same through distribution of stock dividends or extra cash payments.

American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has the largest surplus fund, totaling $678,827,597, which includes the reserves of subsidiaries.

U. S. Steel Corporation, the next largest, has $517,061,208; Standard Oil of New Jersey $278,000,000, Standard Oil of New York $116,000,000, Standard Oil of Indiana $108,000,000, Consolidated Gas $11[illegible],300, the Southern Pacific $338,000,000, Canadian Pacific $249,000,000, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe $188,000,000, Union Pacific $177,000,000 and the New York Central $142,000,000.

47 KARAT GEM AT HUB SHOW

New England's first Jewelry Exposition, combining a business convention and Style Show Pageant of great importance to manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and the public, will open today at Mechanics Building. Millions of dollars worth of gems and wonderfully designed gold and silver wares will be shown.

The exposition is conducted by the Massachusetts and Rhode Island Jewelers' Association in conjunction with the Retailers' Associations of the other four New England States.

A 47-karat diamond, valued at $50,000, which was in the collection of the Czarina of Russia, will be shown by the D. C. Percival Co. of Boston. This wonderfully cut stone is set in a pendant as part of a necklace. Another exhibit of great interest is the famous Rasputian cigarette case, formerly in possession of the "Mad Monk of Russia."

Experts in the cutting of diamonds and other precious stones, and engravers on gold and silver, will work at a number of booths.

Sixty pretty girls, gowned in the latest styles, will parade before the audiences every evening, displaying the late and unique jewelry for all occasions.

COHASSET WOMAN FREED OF MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

A charge of manslaughter against Mrs. Mary E. Parkins of Hull street, North Cohasset, was dropped in Hingham court today, and an assault charge lodged, on which she was found guilty. She was arraigned in connection with the death of Charles Drew of No. 15 Dalton street, Roxbury, who died, it is alleged, from a blow with her fist during a fight in the Nantasket bathhouse laundry where both were employed. Following the guilty finding today, a continuance was granted the defense until November 17, for disposition of the case.

SPECIAL SERVICES BY BRAINTREE POST

The fifth annual armistice dance, under the auspices of Braintree Post, No. 86, American Legion, will be held in Town Hall, South Braintree, tomorrow evening. Impressive armistice exercises for departed buddies will be held at 11 o'clock. The committee is composed of Henry B. Higgins, chairman, assisted by Thomas Talbot, Owen Faulkner, William Muller, Harold S. Pratt, R. P. Fitzgerald, M. T. McAuliffe, W. R. Long, G. T. Woodsum, Lester McCusker and Fred Rowell.

PAWTUCKET TONG WAR FEARED AFTER THREATS

Pawtucket, R. I., Nov. 10—Pawtucket police today were watching all Chinese in the city following the arrest of John Wong, fifty-one years old, of No. 77 Benjamin street, charged with threatening to kill Charlie Moy of No. 24 Broadway. Police fear the alleged threats may be the forerunner of a tong war.

Wong and Moy are laundrymen. Wong was arrested on complaint of Moy. Police are trying to discover if Wong was armed when he visited the laundry of Moy. In District Court Wong was held in $1,000 bonds and his case continued to November 18.

NEW BEDFORD SLOOP IS HELD AS RUM SMUGGLER

New York, Nov. 10 (A.P.)—The auxiliary powered fishing sloop Lincoln of New Bedford, Mass., captured with 600 cases of whiskey, today was taken to the Third Army Base, pending proceedings instituted by the Federal authorities. The Lincoln was seized by a customs patrol boat near Oyster Bay. Captain Arthur B. Grand and crew of three are held in $3,000 charged with smuggling. The Lincoln left New Bedford three weeks ago, ostensibly for the fishing banks.

Here He Is—Take a Look

If You Want to Look Like the Prince of Wales, Look Like THIS

Here's the Prince of Wales, as a British artist shows him after his return from a 25,000-mile "grand" tour. Look like him if you WANT to.

The UNITED STATES sets the fashion in money, automobiles and some other things. ENGLAND sets the fashion in clothes.

Here is the Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne and to the title "Emperor of India." Those of our young gentlemen that want to look like a prince, which is not very hard in these days, have here the necessary information.

It is simple, soft shirt with a soft collar, which doesn't pinch your pneumogastric nerve and injure your brain, and a very simple tie. A plaid cap, loose trousers, probably of flannel, plus a "Tutankhamen" sweater which pulls on over your head, the colors and markings based on discoveries in the Tutankhamen tomb. That's all.

It is easy to look like a prince nowadays. Any good ready-made American clothier, hat maker, sweater maker and shirt maker can fix it for you, and the whole thing won't cost much money.

It was otherwise a little while ago. If you wanted to look like the Black Prince, for instance, you would have to have a suit made of fine steel, a pair of shoulders wider, and a chest deeper than the shoulders and chest of Jack Dempsey. You'd need a good deal in the way of other equipment.

But looking like a MODERN prince is simple; so if that is what you WANT, here is the information to guide you.

He is not a bad-looking young man, this young Prince; a little tired, rather bored with being a prince and everlastingly on parade. But he is doing his job as well as he can. The time has gone by when the people had to "like it or lump it." Russia's emperor is under ground, murdered.

Austria's emperor recently died in exile. Germany's former kaiser is hiding in Holland. The Guelphs, sitting on the throne of Great Britain and India, guided by intelligent statesmen, hold their jobs.

But you must WORK, and they do work, and let the people rule.

Wise Royalty.

Would Aid Port of Boston

Everyone Should Read Excellent Suggestions Made by Metropolitan Planning Division

The report of the Metropolitan Planning Division should be read by every person interested in the development of the Port of Boston and the prosperity of New England.

Boston is the natural gateway for New England industry, and the handling of the heavy volume of freight tonnage pouring into the port is handicapped in some ways. Recommendations are made in the Division report.

One of the most refreshing things about this report is that no drastic recommendations are made calling for the expenditure of large sums of money. Too often special committees, commissions and boards bring in exhaustive and expensive recommendations. Generally they are read with interest and soon forgotten.

This time, however, we have a commission recommending a few important changes in the terminal system of the city to relieve the admitted congestion in certain points. Yet the committee has not torn down the existing system in any way.

It suggests the filling in of the Charles and Old Fort Point Channels at certain points, the establishment of branch markets by the railroads in Charlestown and South Boston for the sale of carload lots of produce without trucking across the city, the elimination of freight cars on Atlantic avenue, south of State street, and the need of better communicating highways between the various terminals.

Everything is not going to pot and ruin, however. The committee finds the three railroads serving the city are doing a good job on interchangeable freight, and that, while there is room for improvement, the general situation is encouraging for the growth of the port.

His Wagon Hitched to a Star

WE have it on the authority of President Coolidge, Elbert H. Gary and other men of knowledge and foresight that everything indicates an era of national prosperity in all lines of industry.

These record-breaking days in Wall Street, with several millions of shares bought and sold at each session, and with continuous rushes of buying orders, are but a natural corollary of the reports of matter-of-fact commercial experts, who note a marked general upward trend in trade and industry all over the United States.

Wall Street has merely hitched its wagon to the star of American prosperity.

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

SCIENTISTS claim that the earth is rapidly shrinking. If this is true, it will be a couple of thousand years before we'll have to look for another place to live.

PEOPLE won't dare to be born unless they have reservations.

CAN you imagine coming into this world and not even being able to get standing room?

IF the earth keeps on shrinking it won't be long before people who live in San Francisco will only be three blocks from China.

I'LL be wonderful to eat your dinner in New York City and throw the scraps in London.

THE earth is going to get so small that half-hours will ask our neighbors to move out of the way while we lie down.

WHILE your head is resting on a pillow in Kokomo, Indiana, your feet will be resting over in Kansas City.

CAN you imagine a guy of people at the city limits of Chicago, trying to get in?

IF the earth ever gets that small people may drop all they want as there wouldn't be room enough to fall down.

Auto Lights

To the Friend of the People:

What is it that people of the Middle West have solved the problem of lighting the road in front of the auto? They use a spot light on the left windshield post, focused down on the road in conjunction with the dim lights. The people of the East seem to know nothing of this. They use only their bright lights, making night driving miserable and extremely dangerous.

Politics by Radio

To the Friend of the People:

The comment of the newspapers upon the character of many radio political speeches during the late mayoralty campaign is just and reasonable.

They were in many instances coarse and vulgar. No newspaper would have printed them in the shape they were given. To call another candidate "a jackass" is not convincing from any angle of vision.

Voters are not going to be governed by language like this.

Character in the Nose

To the Friend of the People:

That writer in your column need not put too much dependence upon heredity or environment to tell the prospects of the individual.

It is my calm conviction that the nose on the human face tells more what people are than any other feature. Washington's nose was aquiline. That means firmness, patience, heroism. Wide nostrils show strength of thought. Solon, we are informed, had a nose six inches long. So was Numa's nose. Napoleon, when he wanted anything done properly, picked out a man with a long nose.

Qualities are more faithfully revealed in the shape and prominence of the nose than in any blue blood scheme.

Ben Franklin's nose told what he was. He had wide nostrils.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

WEARY WAGGLES was a fairly rare phenomenon when I was a girl. He camped down by the railroad tracks and sometimes he tapped at the back door, looking for a meal.

He'd get it, of course, and then vanish again into that shadowy realm which he inhabited and between which and our normal lives there was an abysmal gulf. For "respectable folks weren't tramps."

To my young mind there was almost a biological distinction between People and Hobos. They might have an outward semblance, but it went no deeper than the skin.

But times have changed, as you may have heard hinted elsewhere. Weary Waggles no longer camps by the railroad tracks. He's found in our best regulated families. He fills a thousand Sitting Pretty Positions in our offices. He graduates in droves every year from our high schools and colleges. And his the world-owes-me-a-living philosophy is becoming a universal problem.

When Percy the Passionate Poet yelps that it's his world as much as yours and that said world owes him a living, what does it signify? Does it mean that he's insisting on his natural share of the air and great wide-open gritty spaces? No, indeedy. Nature unadorned is the last thing Percy wants. He wants all the benefits of civilization—boulevard and bungalows, telephones and table d'hotes. That's the world he considers as much his as yours. And if you don't split 50-50 with him you're a traitor to the Brotherhood of Man.

That's the hunch that's animating the modern vagabond to his infinite variety. That's the idea that sends so many husky young gentlemen forth on "stick up jobs" and makes desirable young women more and more loath to accept the monotony of marriage.

AND THEY'RE GETTING BY WITH IT PARTLY BECAUSE WE AGREE WITH THEM.

In the secret depths of our hearts, nineteenths of us believe that work is a curse and that the lad who labors is somehow getting a dirty deal.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS—

By Helen Rowland.

MY Daughter, a woman is full of "I-told-you-so's," and "If-thou-hadst-listened-to-me's," and her middle name is "Recording Angel."

But that which a man hath forgiven is straightway forgotten and his tongue no more repeateth it.

Yet, the workings of his heart are exceeding strange and who shall fathom his reasoning?

For lo, he will forgive a woman for making him suffer—but never for making him RIDICULOUS.

He will forgive her for turning a gun upon him—but never for turning "the laugh" upon him.

He will pardon her for driving him to torments of jealousy—but never for being jealous of him.

He may forgive the woman who hath sought to murder him—but never the damsel who hath besought him to MARRY her.

Yea, verily, verily, a man is reasonable and long-suffering; and there is nothing under the sun for which he will NOT forgive a woman—save for pursuing him, embarrassing him, and BORING him!

LITTLE TALES ABOUT TWO BARBERS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

IN a little town the writer once saw a barber shampooing a man without a hair on his head.

During the process the man kept laughing and saying: "You are the biggest liar I ever heard of!"

Afterwards the barber explained thus:

"When I finished shaving him I asked, 'Shampoo, Sir?' He said, 'Yes, if you think I need it.' I said, 'I think you do,' and shampooed him. I would have been a fool to have said 'no,' wouldn't I?"

A friend recently told me his experience with another barber in a larger city.

He asked him if he could give him a close shave that would last from that morning until the next evening.

"I would like to say 'yes,'" said the barber, "but you can't go against nature, so I will have to tell you the truth. It can't be done."

"There," said my friend, "is an honest man. He loses money by telling me the truth, but I have never forgotten it. I go a mile out of my way since I've moved just to give him my trade. The other day he showed me an offer he had. It was to take charge of a big shop near New York City."

Last Summer I visited the little town again, and the barber who had shampooed the man who was as bald as an egg was still in the same dingy little shop, still thinking that he would be a fool to lose a few dimes by telling the truth.

Which was the fool?

The answer is easy and it is always the same: The man who thinks he is winning by fooling someone else.

The man who thinks he is "slick" in "making a fool" of someone else, is only thereby decreasing his own power.

The man who lies to someone thinks he is making a fool of the other person. He is not. He is only demonstrating that his real value is not so great as the other person took it for granted it was.

The hard-faced women who pushed their way into the last seat, who always insist upon having their own way, and who impose upon others, think they are making fools of those they impose upon.

In reality they are only making fools of themselves.

The sweet, kindly women whom everyone loves and for whom respect grows with the years are never of this type. They are the ones who frequently have been "made fools of."

A child can easily be deceived, but to deceive him shows only despicable traits.

"Making a fool" of others never shows either character or intelligence.

The wise man realizes that sincerity is one of the strongest forces in the world and aligns himself with it.

EINSTEIN AND THE DOG STAR

By Garrett P. Serviss

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

ALL owners of telescopes know that Sirius, the brightest star in the sky, whose splendid corruscations may be seen close to the eastern horizon between 10 and 11 p. m. at the beginning of November, has a faint companion of a peculiar character.

Sirius itself is about ten times as brilliant as a standard first magnitude star, and about 25,000 times as luminous as the curious companion. Nevertheless, the latter, in spite of its faint light, is so heavy that it drags its great comrade about their common centre of gravity in an orbit so large that the consequent motion of Sirius was detected before any telescope had revealed the companion.

The Russian astronomer, Struve, studying this motion in 1850, declared that it must be produced by an unseen companion, and twelve years later the American telescope maker, Alvan Clark, discovered the companion.

Great Density

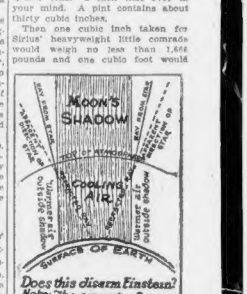
Lately special study of Sirius' companion has led to some remarkable conclusions concerning its astonishingly great density; and this, in turn, has brought this ponderous little star into the lists in defence of the sectional assumption upon the light emitted from its surface. This effect would be larger in proportion as the body from which the light came was heavier. In the case of Sirius' companion, the sun proved to be not dense enough to produce any certainly detectable effect, and then the heavy companion of Sirius was brought in. Observations upon its spectrum, made by Charles E. St. John on Mt. Wilson, are said to have established the existence of the predicted shift, in accordance with Einstein's calculation. Other observers elsewhere, however, have obtained different results, so that the discussion is not ended.

But, independent of any bearing that it may have upon the Einstein theory, the extraordinary density of the faint companion of the "Dog Star" is in itself of surprising interest.

Its distance from Sirius is but little greater than that of the planet Uranus from the sun, and its period of revolution during which it drags Sirius in an orbit more than a third as wide as its own is nearly fifty years. At present its apparent distance from Sirius is between 11 and 12 seconds of arc, so that even a small telescope would easily show it but for the blinding splendor of the greater star so close at hand.

One estimate that has been published of the density of this star appears almost incredible. A pint of its substance would weigh twenty-five tons. I turn that over in your mind. A pint contains about thirty cubic inches.

Then one cubic inch taken for Sirius' heavyweight little comrade would weigh no less than 1,666 pounds and one cubic foot would weigh 2,878,843 pounds. A cubic foot of gold weighs only 1,200 pounds. If the quoted estimate is correct, then, Sirius' companion must weigh about 2,400 times as much as it would if composed of solid gold.



MOON'S SHADOW
COOLING AIR
SURFACE OF EARTH
Does this disarm Einstein? Note: The amount of retardation is largely exaggerated.

Inside the Ton

We have to go inside the ton to find any matter so [illegible] our reach (though even then we cannot see, handle, or experiment with it) that can be at all compared with such density. According to Rutherford's estimate the nucleus of the atom of gold is a hundred and fifty thousand million times denser than the metal gold.

But then, the nucleus of an atom is a hundred thousand times smaller than the atom—a 60 minute that no microscope can make it visible. In the companion of Sirius, on the contrary, we have a sun, comparable in mass with our sun, but, because of its wonderful density, it is such a little giant of gravitational power that our orb of day placed in its vicinity would have to dance to the piper with a vengeance. The astronomers are certainly holding their own in the race for weirdness.
